Reporters Serve Fifth Day in Jail for Defying Judge

Kentuckians Refuse to Tell Who Gave "Tip" on Effigy Story

BEST MAN TO WIN Looks Like an Endurance Contest, Says Elderly Police Judge

DANVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—An elderly police court judge and two young reporters continued their "endurance contest" here Friday.

Every day since Monday Police Judge Harlan has sent the pair, Jack Durham and Wesley Carty, each $25, to jail or has fined them for refusing to answer a question. Each daily refusal to answer has meant a new charge of contempt.

For the judge it meant upholding the principle that a court can compel witnesses to answer competent questions. For the two reporters to give in would be violating their ideals of the newspaper profession.

The pair learned in advance that Representative J. Sterling Towles was to be paired in effigy here July 19 for voting for the state sales tax. When questioned on the stand last Saturday at an inquiry into the affair they declined to say where they got the information.

Judge Harlan gave them until Monday to decide. They refused, he fined them $10 each and told them to come back Tuesday. They came and got three hours each in jail. Wednesday they served six hours. Thursday six hours and paid fines of $3 each.

"If this is an endurance contest, I can stand it," the judge told them.

Refuse to Yield

"We can not violate a confidence," they replied.

Friday the reporters appeared with a lawyer, Sanders E. Clay, who submitted a plea that for them to reveal the information desired not only would be a "breach of newspaper confidence," but also might "possibly incriminate" them under a statute making it an offense to circulate slanderous statements. That plea referred to derogatory remarks about Representative Towles that appeared on a card fastened to his effigy.

They went back to jail to serve another six hours after Judge Harlan overruled their attorney's contention. Clay argued with the court that the reporters could not claim exemptions on the ground they were newspapermen, even though they felt honor bound not to testify. They were ordered to appear before the court again at 4 Saturday afternoon.

"I'm not satisfied that a burning in effigy constitutes a breach of the peace," Clay said. He said the placard pinned on the effigy was slanderous, and that Durham and Carty would incriminate themselves by testimony.

"That," replied Judge Harlan, "is a question for the court, not the witnesses, to decide."

Turning to the reporters the judge said, "It seems to have got down to a fight between this court and the newspapers. My duty as a sworn official is to uphold the authority of this court. I intend to do that. If I am in error the law is easily open to find it out either through habeas corpus proceedings or on a writ of prohibition."

City Attorney Chenault Hugely argued that Carty and Durham did nothing more than receive information that there was to be a burning in effigy in the courthouse yard and that there was nothing to show they communicated inflammatory matter to anyone. He contended that the reporters would be innocent under the gossip statute.

Upheld by Wife.

Carty's wife, an attractive blue-eyed blonde, was a spectator.

"What will you do if your husband tells where he got his information?" she was asked.

"If he does I'll divorce him," she responded.

Judge Harlan then suggested that the reporters take an appeal, filing a petition for habeas corpus in the circuit court. This they declined and told friends on the Danville Advocate they would "stick it out all summer if necessary."

Judge Harlan, a third cousin of the late John Maynard Harlan, who served on the United States Supreme Court for 34 years, said he did not consider the case an issue between him and newspapermen, for whom he

No. 1 Food is higher; it costs more to feed a family now than a year ago. A 24-pound sack of flour that I bought at 65 cents is now $1. Dry salt meat was 7½ cents, is now 13 cents. I figure other things accordingly.

No. 2 (Are your debts less burdensome?) I am not able to pay at all.

No. 3 (Is your bank account more secure?) None.

No. 4 (Are your working conditions better?) No. Wages have been reduced to the NRA (I am for it). I was getting $15 per week before the NRA. After hours were reduced it cut my salary to $12, recently raised to $13.20. Besides the loss in salary I lost $18 per month pension.

No. 5 (Is your faith in your individual future more firmly grounded?) At present I can see no brighter future.

No. 6 (Have you lost any of your rights or liberty or constitutional freedom of action or choice?) No, I still maintain my private privileges.

That is the best way I can explain my reason for answering as I have.

X X X

But now that you have my answer, please read this:

Don't you think things are one-sided?

I get 33 cents an hour for semi-skilled labor while other workers get from $1 and more. I pay the same rent or about the same. I feed two of them to school.

I have never been arrested. I have been in 33 states. I believe I have normal intelligence. I was acting commissary steward in the Navy for a crew of 120 men on a torpedo boat, the U. S. S. Paul Jones, at a salary of $72 per month, plus food and medical attention, during the war.

I am not kicking the government.

I believe it will do all it can, but our civic leaders and industry should do their part.

I believe we have the best form of government in the world. All one has to do is read the papers and see for himself. I am for America first and now.

Now that is about all, except I wish someone would please explain how a man can feed and clothe a family of five, send two boys to school, pay house rent, water, light, gas and doctor bills, medicine, insurance and taxes on the above salary.

X X X

I thank Mr. Walker for his straightforward letter.

I am no Doctor of Economics, but there is a rule of common sense that even the Doctors of Economics bow down to.

You can not squander savings without finding yourself in want. Twenty years ago the world went on a "bender," and today the world's trade is suffering from the lost purchasing power that was blown to bits in a 200-billion-dollar war.

You can not pyramid profits without suffering a terrible financial headache. Ten years ago the United States went into a vast inflation of stocks and bonds, fixing an arbitrary valuation for the factories of America on which management must earn a profit. The valuation proved too high. Management couldn't handle it. Alarm became panic. Panic became bankruptcy.

I suspect the greatest gift President Roosevelt has given to the American people is an intangible gift—the resolve to start building again from the ground up, and the confidence that this is a task the American people are always equal to.

I am not so sure that the present Recovery movement has in the short run accomplished anything more than that. I am not so sure any government can do more than that. Government points the way, but it is it.

Stratosphere Hop Is Begun Saturday

World's Largest Balloon Aims at Record 15 Miles

Three Officers Aboard as It Climbs Quickly to 8-Mile Level

SHOULD CRUISE DAY Descent Expected Late Saturday—3 Planes to Watch Landing

CHICAGO.—(AP)—Major Kepner reported by radio Saturday afternoon that the stratosphere balloon had reached a height of 40,200 feet and had leveled off there.

His position shortly after noon was given as 20 miles south of Ainsworth, Neb.

The stratosphere temperature was reported to be 58 degrees below zero.

They Take Off.

RAPID CITY, S. D.—(P)—The world's largest balloon, with three intrepid airmen in its huge metal gondola, took off at 5:45 a. m. Saturday Mountain Time (6:45 a. m. Hope) for its daring flight into the stratosphere.

The craft moved straight upward, clearing the walls of the natural bowl in about one minute.

The takeoff was entirely successful, and the balloon moved out toward the northeast.

Major William Kepner was on top of the gondola as it moved out. Later he joined Captain Albert Stevens and Captain Orvil Anderson inside the gondola.

A few minutes after the takeoff the men radioed that everything was okeh from an altitude of 7,400 feet, and soared higher and higher.

Sponsored by the National Geographic Society and the United States Army Air Corps, the expedition aimed at a new altitude mark of 15 miles to study conditions in the unmapped regions above the clouds.

A crowd of 30,000 cheered as the 14,000-pound craft, resembling a gigantic exclamation point, left the bowl.

Three airplanes followed the balloon and will attempt to be on hand when it descends, probably late Saturday afternoon.

RAPID CITY, S. D.—(P)—Two fliers Friday night prepared to take off Saturday on a long-avoided flight into the mysterious stratosphere.

Culminating more than six weeks of preparation, Major William E. Kepner, announced that the historic flight, the seventh of its kind in history, would begin unless unfavorable weather developed.

Accompanied by Capt. Albert W. Stevens as scientific observer, Major Kepner plans to pilot the huge free balloon, the largest in the world, at least 15 miles into the upper air. More than a ton of delicate instruments will be carried aloft in an effort to gather knowledge of the little-known upper air.

A trained crew of 120 men from Fort Meade began inflation of the huge sky craft. Special tubes were laid out to pipe 200,000 cubic feet of compressed hydrogen into the balloon.

A gusty wind was dipping hills, 11 miles west of her from where the flight will start as the inflation was started, but officials said they believed the work could be successfully carried out.

Three men instead of two will take part in the flight, its sponsors announced tonight.

Captain Orville A. Anderson, alternate pilot will ride in the metal gondola with Major Kepner and Captain Stevens.

Luke Lea, Jr., Get Parole on Illness

26-Year-Old Prisoner Suffering From Tumorous Growth

RALEIGH, N. C.—(P)—Luke Lea Jr., 26, of Nashville, Tenn., whose conviction in 1931 of conspiracy to violate the North Carolina bank regulations brought him to state prison, Friday received a parole from Governor Ehringhaus, effective Saturday.

He entered prison with his father, Luke Lea Sr., former United States senator, May 10. Both were convicted of financial manipulations that preceded failure of the Central Bank and Trust Company of Asheville.

Some months ago the younger Lea suffered from a tumorous growth which necessitated radium treatment, and he will return to New York for further examination.

Quickly Reach 8-Mile Height

A political rally for county and district candidates, scheduled for next Friday night at Hope city hall, has been postponed until Saturday night.

Candidates will speak from the lawn of First Baptist church. Loud speakers will be set up to convey their messages to the voters.

Johnson May Take Greif Case on Air

NRA Chief Determined to Push Case Against Baltimore Firm

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico.—(P)—If the facts justify, the government will use its powers to prevent "L. Greif & Bros., Baltimore clothing manufacturers from using the Blue Eagle label in its garments, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA head, said Friday.

A district court judge at Baltimore Monday sustained an order restraining NRA officials from lifting the Blue Eagle insignia from the concern, Gen. Johnson, on vacation here, talked by telephone with Washington this morning for more than an hour before making his statement.

"In the first place I don't believe the federal court has the power to enjoin the NRA from lifting the Blue Eagle," he said. "The emblem is the property of the government, is copyrighted and the government has full control."

"But if through some technicality the firm does retain the Blue Eagle against our wishes, and I find the facts justify drastic action, I will go on the air and tell the people of the United States the facts and the reason why the Blue Eagle was lifted."

"I cannot say that I am familiar with all the facts at this distance but I do

M. Becky Suffers Stroke Apoplexy

Auto Yard Proprietor Found Saturday in Dazed Condition

M. Becky was found early Saturday in a dazed condition at his automobile junk-yard just west of the city on Highway 67.

He was taken to Josephine hospital where physicians described his condition as serious. He is apparently suffering from a light stroke of apoplexy. Becky had wounds about the head and arms, officers at first theorizing that he had been attacked in an attempted robbery. After an investigation this theory was discounted, however.

Physicians said that Becky apparently had received the wounds in a fall.

Italy Pours New Troops Northward to Austrian Line

Second Wave Thrown Up to Support First Army of 48,000 Men

AUSTRIA WAVERING Government Claims Victory—But Nazis Are Reported Rallying

By the Associated Press

A second wave of Italian troops strated northward Saturday to support 48,000 men now concentrated on the Austrian border, the Associated Press learned at Rome.

Meanwhile the Austrian government's forces smashed the fighting Nazis over the Yugo-Slavian border in Styria, but Nazi leaders declared if their forces in Carinthia can hold their own until Saturday night there will be a new push in Styria.

In Vienna thousands of mourners filed past the bier of the slain chancellor, Engelbert Dollfuss, whose murder Wednesday was the signal for a Nazi putsch.

Italy May Intervene

ROME, Italy.—(P)—A stronger Italian position, calling for an intervention in Austria if the internal situation justified such action, was revealed Friday by a government spokesman.

Heretofore the government has been represented as ready to move into Austria on—where borders 48,000 troops are concentrated—in the event independence of that nation was threatened from the outside.

Friday, with report of severe fighting in Carinthia province reaching Rome, the spokesman said that if action is required, there will be no necessity for delay for any diplomatic protest. The troops will simply move into the country, when such action is regarded as necessary, the spokesman indicated.

The move, he continued, will be rapid and decisive, just as soon as it becomes apparent that the Austrian government cannot control the situation.

If Austria is able to settle the present difficulty without outside help, Italy will consider what steps should be taken to guarantee that country against further terrorism, it was indicated.

Revelation of the attitude came after Premier Mussolini had conferred with Fulvio Suvich, under secretary of foreign affairs.

The appointment of Franz von Papen as German minister to Austria was said to have failed to create either a favorable or unfavorable reaction with the premier.

While the 48,000 soldiers on the border were ready to move at any time, newspapers spoke of intervention and declared that every Italian is behind Mussolini.

Anxiety of the public rose with the publication of accounts of the fierce fighting in the border province of Carinthia between the Nazis and the Austrian Heimwehr.

However it was denied officially tonight that Italian troops had crossed the border into Austria, the statement saying that such reports were "utterly without foundation."

"There has been no movement whatever of the nature described," said a Foreign Office official. "Not a single Italian soldier has crossed the border either intentionally or by error."

By the Associated Press

Hundreds of men were killed and wounded as the Nazi civil war continued in Austria, bringing the casualty list near to 3,000.

International aspects of the situation became more serious as an Italian spokesman said his government would move troops across the border if the internal situation justified such action.

An Italian Foreign Office official denied reports that the forces of his country already were invading Austria.

The report had reached Belgrade and had resulted in a statement there that if such a thing had happened, Yugoslavia would have no choice but to mobilize her army.

Franz von Papen prepared to go to Austria as special minister from Germany. Chancellor Hitler stressed his detachment from Austrian internal affairs.

Austrian Nazis, who have been refugees in Germany, were reported "demobilizing" in Munich after Hitler was understood to have prevented their moving into Austria.

Italy indicated that if movements into Austria is considered necessary there will be no delay for diplomatic representation.

Chaos prevailed in some parts of Austria as civil war and hunger riots spread. Vienna had the appearance of a besieged city as hui-

21-Day Drouth Is Broken in County

Two-Tenths Inch of Rainfall Reported in Hope Saturday

A 21-day drouth in Hempstead county was broken early Saturday with 2.0 inch of rainfall, figures released from the Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment Station showed.

The rainfall was believed to be general over the county. Fruit and truck crops were aided. Cotton, suffering less than other crops from lack of moisture, was materially helped.

The rainfall brought lowering temperatures, relieving the populace from a heat-wave that has brought suffering for the last three weeks.

The rainfall Saturday was not sufficient to put growing crops in the best of condition, however.

Rain Is General

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Widely separated sections of Arkansas Friday reported rainfall varying from showers in the central, southern and southeastern portions to much heavier rains in the northwest counties where crops have been most seriously damaged by drouth.

Although only a trace of rain was recorded by the Weather Bureau at Little Rock from 12:15 to 12:30 p. m., showers were reported from Nashville, sub of the peach orchard district in southwest Arkansas, and Rogers, Bentonville and Fayetteville in the west part of the state.

The trace at Little Rock and showers in the vicinity brought the temperature down from 94 at 11 a. m., the highest of the day, to 84 at 1 p. m., and the forecast of partly cloudy weather promised continued low temperatures today.

Above 95 Since July 12

Friday was the first day since July 12 that the maximum temperature at Little Rock has not been above 95 degrees.

The Rock Island Lines reported light showers at Camden, Fordyce and El Dorado and threatening weather at Brinkley and Booneville.

Officials of the Missouri Pacific Lines, who Thursday reported showers south to Benton and north to Poplar Bluff, Mo., last night reported rain at Texarkana and at Nashville.

Rain was reported at Conway and at Marshall, Sevier county, and thundershowers occurred north and northwest of Little Rock.

Precipitation at Texarkana amounted to .32 of an inch, but it apparently was limited to the city. Neither Bowie county, Texas, nor Miller county received much rain, although Cass county, Texas had a fair rain and heavier showers were reported in sections of Sevier county. The rain at Texarkana was accompanied by a brief electrical storm.

M. Hawthorne Is Held in Shooting Over Old Quarrel

Burns, Wounded Late Friday at the Hawthorne Home, Dies Here

DISPUTE OVER LAND Brother-in-Law Claims Burns Reached in Boston for Pistol

Murder charges were filed Saturday against Malin Hawthorne for the fatal shooting of Irvin Burns, 23, near the Hawthorne home, 10 miles south of here Friday afternoon.

Renewal of a family row which had been brewing for more than a year over a land title, led to the shooting, officers said.

Burns, wounded with shotgun pellets in both legs and the lower abdomen, died late Friday night in Julia Chester hospital.

He made no statement to officers before his death other than to say there had been trouble with Hawthorne, his brother-in-law.

The shooting occurred in a pasture near the Hawthorne home. Burns had attended a political speaking at Spring Hill, later going to the Hawthorne home, quarreling with Hawthorne's wife, and was leaving when Hawthorne appeared on the scene from a hunting trip.

At sight of Hawthorne it is said that Burns approached him with his hand in his bosom, presumably reaching for a pistol. Hawthorne said he ordered Burns to remove his hand from his shirt, which he did.

Burns kept advancing according to Hawthorne and then reached into his bosom for the second time. Hawthorne leveled a single barrel shotgun and fired. Burns dropped to the ground. Hawthorne said he reloaded the gun and called for help.

A Hope Furniture company ambulance brought Burns to Julia Chester hospital.

Deputy Sheriff Allen Shipp investigated and said he found no pistol that Burns presumably had in his shirt.

"When I investigated the shooting, I found Hawthorne sitting on the front porch of the L. C. Betts home, about a mile from where the shooting occurred."

Hawthorne was sitting there alone with a loaded shotgun across his lap. I presume that he had gone to the Betts home to surrender as Mr. Betts is a deputy sheriff.

Hawthorne Surrenders

"I asked Hawthorne if there had been trouble. He replied: 'Nothing much.' He appeared to be composed and surrendered amicably. He talked little of the shooting on the trip to jail, other than to say he didn't think he should be locked up, claiming he shot in self-defense."

Funeral services for Burns were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Old Sardin cemetery south of Hope. Burns had been married three times. His present wife and the other two are living. Burns was first married when 15 years old. Twins were born. Four other children were born by the last two wives.

He is also survived by his mother and father, and several brothers.

Trace Robbery to Baby-Face Nelson

Dillinger Aide Believed Leader in Kentucky Bank Raid

HENDERSON, Ky.—(P)—Belief that George (Baby Face) Nelson drove the automobile in which four bandits fled from Henderson after robbing the Farmers Bank and Trust Company of $34,327 was expressed Friday by Department of Justice agents and local officers.

Employees of the bank and the operator of a filling station where one of the robbers purchased a tire viewed photographs of Nelson Friday and told the investigating officers that the pictures resembled one of the men in the holdup Thursday.

Friday night the search for the bandits turned to Adair county, after the automobile used by the bandits was discovered abandoned near Henderson Friday and found to be the property of John R. Fox, Chicago.

Sister Produces Helen's Letters

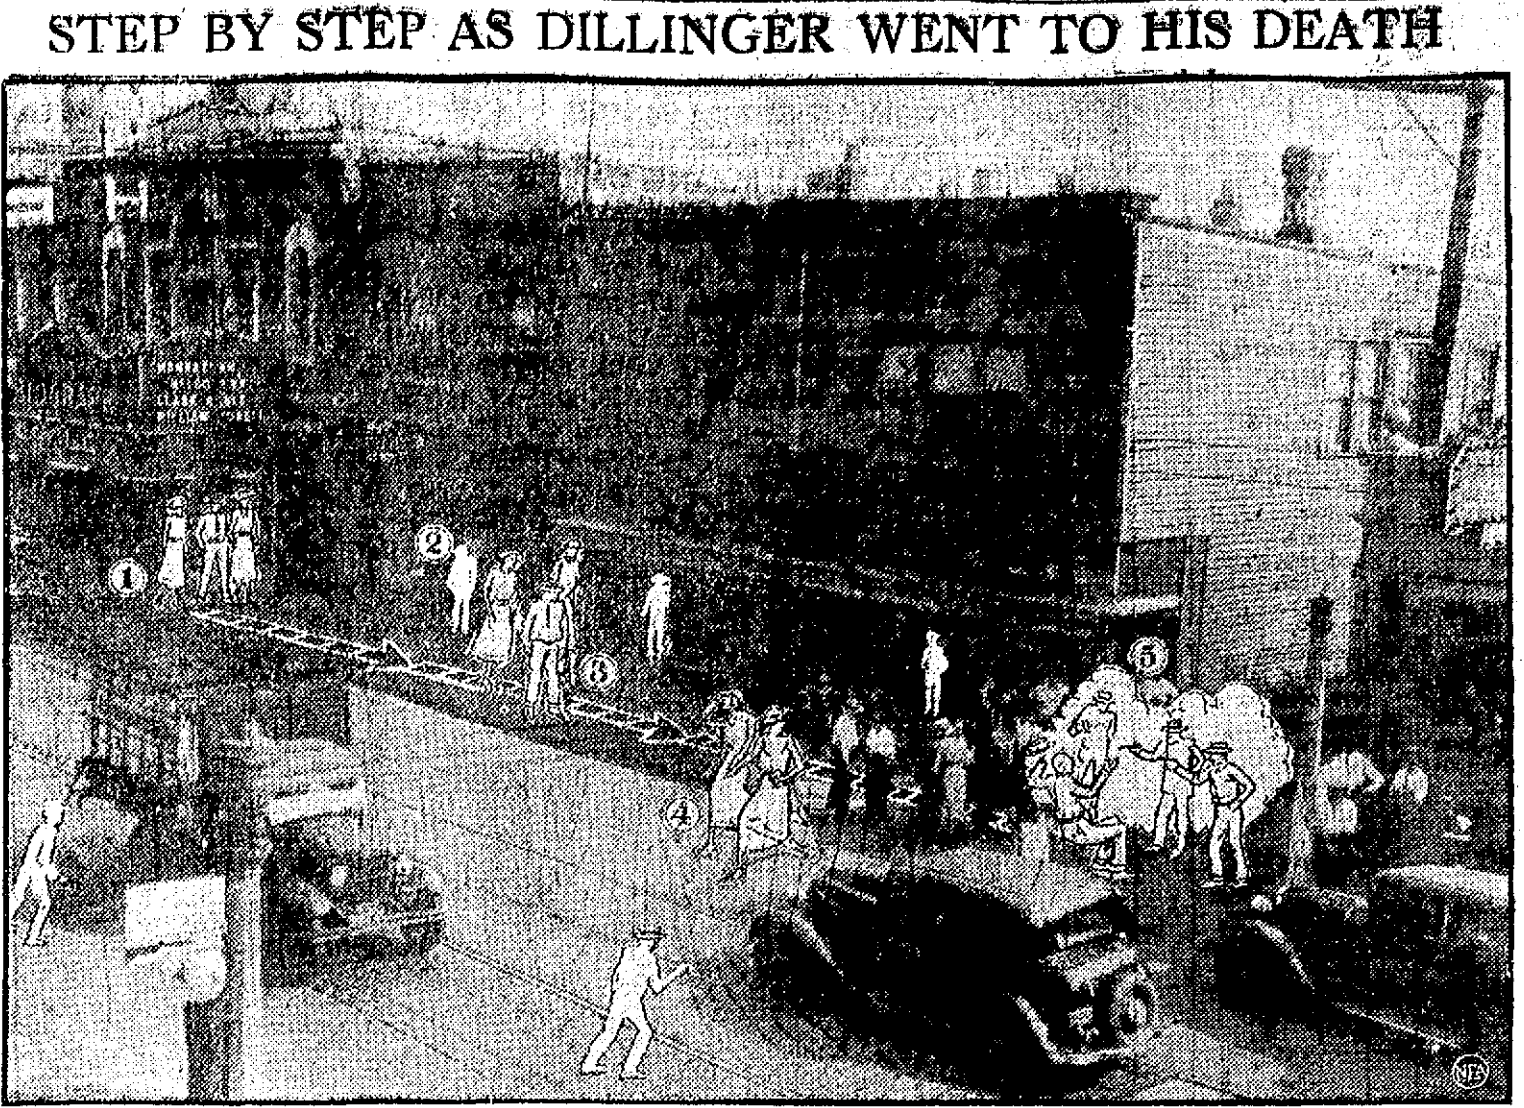

Eaton Family Contend Penitentiary Threat Note Is a Fake

CONWAY, Ark. — Mrs. Edna Mae Ferguson, sister of Helen Spence Eaton, slain by a convict guard the day following her escape from the state farm for women near Jacksonville July 10, was in Conway Friday en route to St. Charles, her former home, with her husband, J. W. Ferguson.

They had 25 letters that Mrs. Ferguson had received from her sister which they will use in an effort to prove the note supposed to have been written by Helen that she "would not be taken alive" was not written by the girl. A first degree murder charge has been filed at Little Rock against Frank Martin, the trusty who fired the fatal shots.

The Fergusons said that they left Tulsa about a week before the killing, but did not learn of Helen's death until several days after it occurred. They have been three weeks getting this far on their way to St. Charles, Arkansas county. Ferguson said he had repaired 185 "flats" on the dilapidated car in which they are traveling. He was repairing a "flat" when a reporter saw him at a filling station here.

Mrs. Ferguson is an invalid. She has many of the facial characteristics of her sister. Her husband is a World war veteran. He said he and his wife are going to the home of Pleasant Spence, uncle of his wife, to live. He will fish and hunt for shells on the White river, he said.

The thrill-filled last moments of John Dillinger's hectic career are sketched here on an actual picture of the scene, as the outlaw went to his death by federal bullets. (1) Dillinger leaves film theater, followed by two women. With a piercing look, he passes Melvin Purvis (2), Department of Justice investigator, waiting in front of an adjacent beer tavern to spring the trap; then (3) the women believed to have led the outlaw to his doom fall back, and flee (4) as the corded closets in the quarry. (5) Bullets thud into the body of the gangster and he plunges dying into the alley.

hundreds of troops patrolled the street. S. O. S. calls for help were sent in from Carinthia where the Nazis were holding many towns. Government forces were having better success against Nazis in the province of Styria.

VIENNA, Austria. —(P)—A no-compromise defiance was hurled at revolting Nazis Friday night by the new head of the government, Prince Ernst von Starheimberg, after another day of bitter fighting which brought casualty estimates close to 3,000.

Protected by guns, the youthful von Starheimberg exhorted Austria over the radio:

"Do not depart one inch from the way prescribed by Dollfuss."

"I declare solemnly that we regard as the holy heritage of our dead chancellor and there can never be any compromise with National Socialism."

Meanwhile alarming reports of rebel Nazi military successes in Carinthia were accompanied by appeals for reinforcements of loyal Heimwehrmen.

The government assured the people that "von Papen is coming" and that the former German chancellor would bring peace to Austria.

But peace assurances were offset by chaos in whole sections of the country caused by Nazi uprisings and hunger riots.

Unverified rumors that Italian troops were crossing the border brought flat denials from Italy. They had caused apprehension in neighboring Yugoslavia, which declared that nation must mobilize if Austria is invaded by foreigners.

Government Hard Pressed

The government was hard put to answer calls for aid against the Nazis in sections where the rebels were winning. Loyal forces—Heimwehrmen and soldiers—were reported to have recaptured St. Veit in Carinthia, killing 30 Nazis. The government also claimed to have stormed Feldkirchen successfully.

The Nazis still held Bleiberg and Seldamsee, at which places, as well as many others, bitter fighting continued late tonight. Nazi forces were reported in control of the Tauern railway tunnel connecting Carinthia with Salzburg.

There will be a candidates' rally and box supper at Falcon at 7 o'clock Monday night, July 30. Seats and lights have been arranged for.

"I Give My Love"

New Saenger Film

John Darrow, Eric Linden, Dorothy Appleby Here Sunday

"To a man, love is a thing apart—it is woman's whole existence!" This is the theme of the powerful motion picture, "I Give My Love," which is coming Sunday and Monday to the Saenger. It is a Vicki Baum human document.

Here is a motion picture carrying with it all the emotional gamut of life as it is lived by artists who know no other creed but their own. It is a veritable dynamo of heart throbs, written only as the remarkable Vicki Baum can write.

Wynne Gibson and Paul Lucal divide the starring honors in the film, with both provided with roles that are unforgettable. Miss Gibson's characterization, it is said, is one of the most touching and tender ever put on the screen, while Lucal even surpasses his great and human role in "Little Women."

The supporting cast of players include John Darrow, Eric Linden, Dorothy Appleby, Tad Alexander and Sam Hardy.

The election took place last Monday night at a meeting of the board of directors. The Rev. Mr. Strasser succeeds Joe R. Floyd.

The evening's program consisted of an open forum discussion on economics conducted by Walter E. Hussman.

1 Killed, 5 Hurt at "Peace Party"

Guns, Knives, Stones and Clubs "Settle" Rural Gossip Question

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. — In a free-for-all fight in the Ross community, 35 miles north of Russellville, one man was killed and five other persons were wounded, two or three believed critically, and several others sustained minor injuries. Guns, knives, stones and clubs were used.

George Reed, 45, a farmer, was shot to death. Lee Freeman, a neighbor, was said by officers to have been the slayer. Freeman was in a critical condition when Sheriff J. L. Leonard Bell and several deputies reached the scene, and they left him at his home under guard. Freeman was beaten or struck by stones, officers said. He may not recover.

Tom Freeman, about 60, father of Lee Freeman, who was also reported in a serious condition, having been beaten over the head. His wife suffered a brain injury that required 16 stitches to close. A daughter of the Freemans was also attacked with a knife, sustaining a wound in the chest. He wound is not serious, however.

Mrs. George Howard, wife of the slain man, was cut on the throat. She was reported in a critical condition.

Names of those wounded less seriously were not obtained by officers who returned here tonight.

The fight was said to have been the result of "gossip" said to have been overheard at a church gathering last Sunday. Women members of the Freeman and Howard families were involved. They were reported to have agreed to meet "and settle the matter."

When the women appeared at the meeting place they were accompanied by other members of their families.

Instead of adjusting their difficulties they renewed the quarrel of last Sunday, and the shooting, clubbing, cutting and stoning followed.

Both the Freeman and Howard families are well known in the northern part of Pope county.

DILLINGER DOCTOR

John Dillinger, into "protective custody." They also held a surgeon suspected of camouflaging the slain gang chief's features and Mrs. Anna Sage, 44, said she saw Dillinger in red, who accompanied him and his friend his last night.

Samuel F. Crowley, chief pro tem of the United States Bureau of Investigation in Chicago, declined to discuss the triple detention. The consensus in other quarters was that Keele girl and the Sage woman were afforded sanctuary lest Dillinger's comrades seek retribution on the theory that one of the two women led him into a federal ambush near a north side theater Sunday night.

As a basis for this belief was a cryptic note found on Dillinger's grave in the Crown Hill cemetery at Indianapolis. It read:

"I am going to get her John. So long old boy, J. H."

The name of John Hamilton, lieutenant of Dillinger, was advanced most frequently in conjecture as to the author of the grim pledge.

Acting on this unexpected clue, the hunt for Hamilton, Homer Van Meter and George Nelson, ranking members of the criminal crew, extended into Indiana.

CWA Revival This Winter Forecast

Work Program Preferable to Direct Relief, Says Williams

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. —(P)—Urbey Williams, assistant administrator of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, declared here Friday that he did not think the people would stand for another winter of direct relief and that he believed a second work program would have to be devised along the lines of the Civil Works Administration.

"The CWA was the best answer to the problem of unemployment," said Williams in his appeal to the governors to put their states in line to share the cost of general jobless relief.

"We are becoming more complacent about the fact that one sixth of our entire population is living in a state of chronic destitution. Relief by the direct dole is no answer. The dole crushes morale. Regular work and wages, employment or something useful, is the only answer, and it has got to come this winter. People won't stand for another winter of direct dole."

economic supply and demand that really pulls us back to prosperity.

You know we are somewhat better off today than a year ago—generally speaking—simply because public confidence has been improved, releasing money to trade that was really available all along, but held back by fear of complete dissolution of our nation.

The discovery of still more business, to add to this which is now released, is a slow and tedious process. We shouldn't be too impatient.

X X X

But while that process is being evolved, this much is certain: Profits will be smaller, and wages will be larger, in proportion to the total national business, than at any time since the war.

This will be true, for if industry doesn't manage it of its own accord the government will continue to attend to it by hiring men on the public rolls and then charging the cost up to industry in the form of new high taxes. And that will be right.

As trade slowly recovers, taxes will decline again, and profits increase behind wages.

This is no prophecy. It is history—the history of every civilized nation that recognizes that people come first and abstract notions of wealth come afterward.

I am not interested in the many popular notions of redistribution of wealth. Taxation accomplishes this. It always has. It always will. And right-thinking men recognize it as just.
